

CANADIAN MASSAGE & MANUAL OSTEOPATHIC THERAPISTS ASSOCIATION

Code of Ethics

For Massage & Manual Osteopathic Therapists

First Edition Adopted May 14, 2019

CMMOTA MEMBER GUIDELINES

- Each member of our Association will respect and protect patient dignity and safety.
- Each member will respect and protect the dignity of their therapy through their actions and professional conduct.
- Each member will respect the client’s right to privacy and confidentiality.
- Each member will provide competent, safe care to all clients.
- Each member will act with integrity and honesty in all situations.
- Our members will not misrepresent their knowledge or abilities. They will refer clients with conditions beyond their knowledge and abilities accordingly as part of their commitment to professional conduct.
- Each member will continue to study and advance their knowledge, competence and effectiveness.
- Our members will not slander or belittle another therapist or any other healthcare professional.

Code of Ethics Definition:

A Code of Ethics is a statement that expresses the primary ethical values, obligations and goals of the professions. It is a commitment, which serves to bear witness to our promise to uphold the values and ethical obligations expressed in the Code.

Purpose of Code of Ethics:

A Code of Ethics gives definition to our commitment to practice in ethical terms. As health professionals, we have made a promise to society to accept the responsibility and maintain the trust with which we have been invested.

Intention of Code of Ethics:

It lays out clearly the Massage and Manual Osteopathic Therapy profession's values and explains what they are in terms of what we ought to do in order to protect and promote the public good, and what we must avoid doing in order to prevent harm to the public.

To whom does this Code apply?

Massage Therapists and Manual Osteopathic Therapists who are members of CMMOTA and act as practitioners, educators, researchers, administrators or policy makers are all expected to maintain a commitment to Massage Therapy values and Manual Osteopathic philosophies respectively and to follow the principles outlined in this Code.

CMMOTA's Mission:

"We are dedicated to our members and recognize each other as Massage & Manual Osteopathic Therapy Professionals."

CMMOTA protects and serves the public by guaranteeing the competency and quality of services provided by Massage & Manual Osteopathic Therapists through maintenance of Standards and Regulations.

We will operate in a manner which encourages innovation, and which elicits a sense of pride in the job and commitment to results through the Associations board. We will dedicate ourselves to improving our performance through focusing on group and individual goal setting, effective performance measurement and regular feedback. We will be guided in all that we do by our primary focus - to protect the public."

What is Massage Therapy?

The examination and treatment of soft tissue and joints of the body and prevention of physical dysfunction through soft tissue manipulation and use of adjunct modalities approved or specified in the Practice Competencies and Performance Indicators document, with the intention of improving and restoring the body back to health.

What is Manual Osteopathic Therapy?

The examination and treatment of the client as a whole without the use of therapeutic devices. The Manual Osteopathic Therapists uses practices competencies outlined in the World Health Organization Benchmark for Training in Osteopathic Manipulative Treatment, with the intention of improving and restoring the body back to health.

What is the Scope of Practice for Massage Therapy?

For a detailed overview of Scope of Practice, please refer to the CMMOTA Scope of Practice for Massage Therapists and Standards of Practice for Massage Therapists Documents.

Simplified, this scope has three parts:

- 1) What: Assessment and treatment of soft tissue and joints
- 2) How: Manipulation of soft tissues and joint in combination with adjunct modalities
- 3) Why: To develop, maintain or augment physical function or relieve pain

What is the Scope of Practice for Manual Osteopathic Therapy?

For a detailed overview of Scope of Practice, please refer to the CMMOTA Scope of Practice for Manual Osteopathic Therapists and Standards of Practice for Manual Osteopathic Therapists Documents.

Simplified, the Scope of Practice encompasses:

- 1) What: Assessment and treatment of the client as a whole with Manual Osteopathic Principles.
- 2) How: Manual Intervention as outlined in the WHO Benchmark for Training in Osteopathic Manipulative Treatment

- 3) Why: To develop, maintain and augment balance and reverse mechanical disruptions to the body

5 General Principles to guide the Practice of Massage Therapy and Manual Osteopathic Practice

Principle I - Respect for Persons

Principle II - Responsible Caring

Principle III - Integrity in Relationships

Principle IV - Responsibility to Society

Principle V- Commitment to Confidentiality

Principle I - Respect for Persons

Meaning:

To value the dignity and worth of all persons regardless of age, race, culture, creed, sexual identity, gender, ability and/or health status

Application: Client autonomy is demonstrated by:

- a) Ensuring that clients are as fully involved as possible in the planning and implementation of their own health care
- b) Providing complete and accurate information in a sensitive and timely fashion to enable clients, or when necessary a client's substitute decision maker, to make informed choices
- c) Listening to and respecting a client's values, opinions, needs, and cultural beliefs
- d) Encouraging and being responsive to a client's choice to accept, augment, modify, refuse or terminate treatment
- e) Being informed about moral and legal rights of a client
- f) Advocating for and supporting a client in exercising his/her moral and legal rights

Principle II - Responsible Caring

Meaning: Providing sensitive, compassionate and empathetic treatments.

Application: Responsible care of a client is demonstrated by:

- a) Listening to and respecting the client's values, opinions, needs, and cultural beliefs
- b) Promoting the client's best interest and well-being, through the highest possible standard of professional practice
- c) Seeking assistance when conflicts arise between the value systems of the practitioner and the client
- d) Recognizing and referring the client to other health care providers when it is in the client's best interest to do so
- e) Being alert to and reporting, as required, any unethical practice by any member of the regulated health professions
- f) Approaching and co-operating with substitute decision makers in assessing the client's wishes and best interests in the event of incapacity
- g) Protecting the client's physical and emotional privacy
- h) Collecting only that information which is relevant to the provision of health care

Principle III - Integrity in Relationships

Meaning: To practice with integrity, honesty and diligence in our professional relationships with our clients, professional colleagues, our society and ourselves

Application: Commitments to clients are demonstrated by:

- a) Ensuring that we always act in our client's best interest
- b) Informing the client about health care services available to support them
- c) Referring to other health care providers as necessary and appropriately
- d) Obtaining assistance when value conflicts arise which threaten to impede client autonomy
- e) Providing client-centered health care which includes the following:
 - I) Explaining to the client and advocating for his/her right to receive information about, and take control of his/her health care
 - II) Providing information about the proposed treatment, alternative courses of action, the material effects, risks and side effects in each case and the consequences of not having the treatment
 - III) Assisting the client to comprehend information

IV) Responding to questions about our client's health care/treatment

Commitments to Self are demonstrated by:

- a) Being pro-actively committed to our own health and personal and professional development
- b) Being competent, conscientious and empathetic practitioners
- c) Being aware of our personal values and being able to identify when value conflicts interfere with client care

Principle IV - Responsibility to Society

Meaning: To be accountable to society and conduct ourselves in a manner that fosters and promotes high ethical standards

Application: Ethical practice is demonstrated by:

- a) Pursuing continued career-long, professional learning
- b) Advocating for and supporting a client's ethical and moral rights
- c) Participating in the promotion of the respective professions through advocacy, research and maintenance of the highest possible standards of practice
- d) Being committed to promoting the welfare and well-being of all persons in society
- e) Committing to continuous improvement and implementation of practice standards
- f) Collaborating with members of the other health professions to meet the health needs of the public
- g) Continuing to develop ways to clarify professional accountability to society

Principle V – Commitment to Confidentiality

Meaning: Practitioners shall safeguard the confidentiality of all client information, unless disclosure is requested by the client in writing, is medically necessary, required by law or necessary for the protection of the public

Application: Protection of privacy demonstrated by:

- a) Respecting client information, both written and verbal

- b) Ensuring whatever is shared within a session is intended to stay there. A client's confidentiality assures that conversations occurring during a session are only shared with others if it does not violate the client's privacy rights and is for a medical or legal purpose
- c) Safeguarding the client's right to privacy and confidentiality by holding all personal and health information in confidence unless otherwise required by law
- d) Proper storage and securing of client files through the use of a locked or inaccessible room or cabinet

CMMOTA Massage & Manual Osteopathic Therapist Pledge

I commit my knowledge, skills and intention to serve the best interests of my clients and to facilitate their health and wellbeing.

My practice of client care will be conducted with respect, dignity and compassion.

I will engage in respectful collegial relationships with members of my own profession and other health care professions.

I will value the trust that society has vested in me as a health care practitioner by being accountable, ethical and responsible.

I make this pledge with integrity and of my own free will.